Me...

Hi! My name is Lucy. I am a director and editor, born and bred in Wellington, NZ. Over the last 8 years I have been in 3 different countries, immersing myself in all things film - I've written and directed short films, made a TV series for the BBC, travelled around Europe filming an author, edited a TV show about male underwear models, and lots more. I have a passion for telling stories that don't usually get told, and giving a voice to people who don't always get to have one. Creativity, diligence, enthusiasm, and a refusal to fail are my greatest strengths, and the things I value in others.

My Work...

OutTV

May 18 - present Assistant Editor/Editor

I'm currently working at OutTV as an Assistant Editor/Online Editor. My time is split between ingesting footage and creating dailies for a feature documentary, and cutting assemblies, segment editing, finishing and delivering episodes of a new reality TV show. I've also edited three episodes in the season.

'HerStory No.1 - A Simple Act'

Apr 18 - June 18 Editor

Upon arrival in Canada I was lucky enough to discover actor/director Camille Hollett-French and her short film anthology 'HerStory in Three Parts'. I jumped on set as Director's Assistant for 'A Simple Act', then was brought on to edit the 20 min film.

Flying Saucer

Jan 18 - Apr 18 Director

At Flying Saucer in Wellington I was a Director and Editor on a number of different commercial projects. These included making films for clients such as OpenCities, WREDA, and St Mark's Prep School. I wrote scripts and directed the projects, and completed the edit, grade, and sound mix on a few also.

Weddings!

Dec 17 - Apr 18 Filmmaker

At the end of 2017 I started getting into wedding videos, filming and editing unique, personal videos for happy couples in New Zealand.

The Opportunities Party

July 17 - Oct 17 Content Producer

In 2017 I worked for The Opportunities Party in Wellington, NZ, producing online content for their campaign. This was an extremely varied role involving filming and editing anything from live debates and policy announcements, to 'Policy in a Minute' videos and the occasional Facebook live stream of the roadshows. Our social media not only had the highest follower growth of any political party in the campaign, we also had the highest amount of positive sentiment.

Mentorn Media

March 16 - Oct 16 Producer

In London I was working for Mentorn Media, making short films for BBC Three. In a team of just myself and the Series Producer, I handled all the research, casting, and producing on the day. I also filmed, sound recorded, and edited a share of the films. We broke 1 million views on a number of these films, including 'Things people with Down's Syndrome are tired of hearing' which received over 13m views. This was one of the films that I, not only researched, cast, and produced, but also filmed and edited myself.

The Follett Office

June 15 - Oct 16 Cameraperson

Over my last 2 years in London I was doing occasional freelance work as a cameraperson for the author Ken Follett. This involved filming his annual 'Seasonal Message', and (much more fun!) travelling with Ken overseas to film him on his research trips, for the documentary "On the Trail of History - A Column of Fire"
